This is really nothing but a poorly written advertisement for some other program. There is absolutely nothing special about this program, nothing impressive, nothing worth mentioning. All it does is make a quiz, and even if you have all the features listed in the description, there is still something wrong with it. Really, the description of this program is like the description of a camera that only shoots still pictures. The only thing this program does is that it allows you to make quizzes in a few question types such as matching, multiple choice questions and yes/no questions. In addition to that, it is really slow to load, but even worse, it cannot create an online quiz at all, it only can run an online quiz. And to run the quiz, you need to be connected to the Internet, so it is not really a free quiz program. To make a quiz online, you need to have that knowledge first before you can make it. The quizzes created with it can only be run on your computer; that makes it not really free. This program is really not that amazing to talk about. You can make your own quiz online in this program, but it is not that easy and the results are b7e8fdf5c8
